IDENTIFY FOREIGN DEAD IN QUAKE; MANY AMERICANS FEARED IN LIST; 36 FROM OBERLIN IN DANGER ZONE

HOPE MISSIONARIES ARE IN MOUNTAINS; OBERLIN WORRIED

OBERLIN, Sept. 5. — There are some 36 graduates of different departments of Oberlin College who are in Japan at this time, some of whom may have lost their lives in the recent earthquake and fire These people may be divided into four groups:

First—The missionary group, including preachers, missionaries, or religious workers of some sort, numbering 18.

Second—Those engaged in business, numbering three.

Third—Teachers, numbering 14.

Fourth—Occupation unknown two.

Eighteen of the total number of 36 are apparently Americans or children of Americans. Four are from the class of 1923· Mrs. Doris E. Cunningham, Sidney L. Gulick, Jr., Mrs Tusnetsugu Miyagawa of the Seminary and Masatara Tamuro of the Seminary.

Persons from this list in the immediate vicinity are:

Estella L. Coe of class of 1910, giving 224 East Lorain street as her address.

Edith Curtis, class of 1910, who used to live at 136 North Main street.

Sidney R. Gulick, Jr., class of 1923, giving home as 144 North Professor street, Oberlin.

Nine of the graduates who are in Japan gave their home address as Tokio, and three Yokohama.

As is generally the case in regard to other Americans in the stricken parts of Japan, nothing is known or has been heard of them

Unless the Oberlin missionaries are with most of the others of their co-workers who spend the summer in the mountains there is little hope of their having avoided injury in the earthquake at Tokio, is the belief of Miss E. Frances Parmelee, for 46 years a missionary at Akashi, near Kobe. Miss Parmelee returned to Oberlin in May, 1922, after she was retired from active service.

JAPAN'S CAPITAL NOW CITY OF CHARRED RUINS

General view of Tokio, showing flimsy structures which made city an inferno after the quake.

Tokio, capital of Japan and queen of the orient, is but a mass of charred ruins, with the bodies of thousands of its citizens, victims of the quake and fire, lying where death overtook them. Latest reports place the Tokio death toll at 150,000. The total number of deaths will exceed 200,000, it is believed. The photo shows the flimsy structures on which the fire fed.

24 Foreigners Dead In Yokohama; Many More Killed in Tokio

SHANGHAI, Sept. 5.—With the re-establishment of partial communication in Japan, the unprecedented disaster which has stunned the world and rendered millions of persons in the island empire homeless, with a loss of life variously estimated at from 300,000 to 500,000, the catastrophe is being unfolded to an anxious world in despatches today which are trickling through direct from the stricken country for the first time since the earthquake, conflagration and tidal wave laid waste to an area said to be 100 miles square.

The property damage is incalculable.

Americans Among Dead

Twenty-four foreigners, including several Americans are known to have lost their lives in the calamity at Yokohama. The number of dead in the capital cit of Tokio which is almost completely dest.oyed is unknown. Earlier reports indicate the foreign quarter of the city was demolished with possible heavy loss of foreign lives.

Electric lights in the Tokio wards of Hongo and Koishikawa were turned on for the first time in almost a week. Seven of the wards or suburbs were obliterated A portion of the water supply system in the remaining ward s has been repaired and these communities are being served

A Tokio reporter of the Asahi, a newspaper, escaped in the height of the seismic disturbances at Yokohama Sunday night and after three days and nights travel by foot reached Osaka today He reported that all towns and villages between the two cities hao been demolished with an appalling loss of life. These communities included Hachioji, Atsuki, Hiratsuka, Kodzu and Totemba.

Confirmation has been received that the populous island of Oshima, with its 50,000 souls has been inundated with not a trace remaining.

Oshima was the lagrest island of the Idzu group.

The far eastern review here received a cable from the stricken country indicating that its offices were destroed, but the fate of its personnel was not given. The cable added thaty al lbanks in Toko and Yokohama were reduced to debris and funds were unavailable.

From Peking came reports that 10,000 refugees who had taken refuge in the military depot at Tokio were burned to death.

All cities, towns and hamlets of Izzu, Tokaheo, Boso and Mizura peninsulas were wiped out. The total population of the peninsulas is more than 100,000.

Warships Rushed

Two hundred and sixteen distinct earthquake shocks were felt in Yokohama and Tokio last Saturday. Fifty-seven of the tremors were felt in a three-hour period, from 8 to 11 a m.

Six warship, laden with immediate necessities, have reached Yokohama harbor from the Japanese naval station at Kure.

Only an approximate estimate of the loss of life will ever be known. In many cases the devastating fire entirely obliterated all trace of humanity. Thousands were drowned in the engulfing huge tidal wave

Navigation in the harbor at Yokohama is impossible The floor of the bay has been raised to such a degree as to make it unsafe for vessels. Lighthouses were washed away. Numerous craft, including the steamer Selma City, have been beached.

The response for relief from a sympathetic world was instantaneous Relief ships have already arrived off Yokohama and hundreds of others heavily laden with food, clothing and medical supplies are enroute to Japan

Rains Sweep Refugees

The government at Osaka, where it was moved from Tokio, and relief measures have started to ameliorate the unspeakable suffering

The intense suffering of the refugees, who lined the destroyed railway right-of-ways out of Tokyo and Yokohama for miles, was aggravated by torrential rains

Refugees who made their way into Kobe reported that at least 100 foreigners had been killed in Yokohama. Japanese newspapermen who were forced to walk from Yokohama to Osaka reported that the damage to the countryside adjacent to the larger cities was as great as that in the cities The casualties were not so high, however.

800 BED-RIDDEN PATIENTS DIE IN HOSPITAL BLAZE

As communication was partially restored today with Japanese areas devastated by earthquake, fire, storm and tidal waves the estimates of dead became more conservative. The death list may not exceed 30,000.

American Ambassador Wood reported from Tokio that the casualties in that city are now estimated at only 10,000. All Americans are safe, he said. The Japanese consul general at Shanghai, however, estimated the dead in Tokio at 130,000.

The first supplies of relief food have reached the ravaged district around Tokio. Food and medicine are badly needed by the hundreds of thousands of homeless fugitives. Within a few days a steady stream of food, clothing, shelter tents, blankets and medicine will be pouring into Japan.

Vice Consul Jenks, an American, is reported dead at Yokohama. The Italian ambassador at Tokio was killed.

Manila reports news from a semi official source that Premier Yamamoto is missing.

A million and a half people in stricken Tokio are facing starvation.

Yokohama was completely destroyed, without a building being left standing, according to a private telegram.

The work of the reconstruction will start at once. It is estimated Japan will buy $500,000,000 worth of supplies in the United States.

TOKIO DEATH LIST IS 30,000 ALONE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A million and a half people in stricken Tokio are facing starvation, said a dispatch received at the Japanese embassy here today from the Japanese consul general at Shanghai.

This official estimated the dead in Tokio at 130,000.

(Note: This is decidedly at variance with a cablegram from American Ambassador Woods at Tokio this morning, in which he estimated Tokio's dead at 10,000).

"The number of houses destroyed in Tokio amounts to 350,000," the cable read. "Casualties there are 130,000 dead. The whole district was burned over. By the evening of September 3, the fire subsided, but the people were without food. Fully 1,500,000 refugees are facing starvation in Tokio alone.

10,000 in Yokosuka.

"In Atami, there are 10,000 and, in Yokosuka, two-thirds of the population (100,000) are killed or badly injured. Many foreigners were slain in Tokio and Yokohama.

"The mayor of Yokohama, the director of customs, the American consul general, and many other officials, were either crushed to death in falling buildings or burned in the fire, which followed. The situation is appalling.

"The government has contributed $500,000,000 for immediate relief, and the prince regent has given $5,000,000 to aid his people.

"Troops have been sent to Yokohama and Tokio to maintain order and distribute relief from the garrisons at Utsunomiga, Takata, Kanazawa, Takasaki and Toyosaki. Transportation of food stuffs and other supplies has been started from southern Japan, principally from Osaka and Kobe. Supplies are going forward by water.

"The emperor and empress, who were summering at Nikko, and the prince regent, who was at his palace in Tokio, are safe and are reported proceeding to Kyoto on a warship.

China Gives Aid.

"The Chinese government and people have expressed their deep sympathy and are preparing relief measures."

The dispatch also went into details about the damage in the city of Tokio, giving the first detailed description of that city's damage.

"The wards of Honjo, Fukagawa, Shitaya are completely destroyed," the dispatch stated.

Approximately 35,000 houses in Tokio have been utterly destroyed, the despatch stated, and the dent interpreter, are safe.

LOSS ESTIMATED AT $2,500,000,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5. — The holocaust which swept the island empire of Japan has wrought a minimum property loss of $2,500,000,000, it was estimated at the Japanese embassy here today after a study of press dispatches which gave but meager details of the catastrophe. It was explained the damage might mount into billions more if later reports show the destruction to be as complete whole city laid waste by the fire.

Troops from five different garrisons are marching into the stricken capital to preserve order and take charge of the relief work, the consul reported. A fleet of food and relief supplies already has been started toward the capital from southern Japan, going by water.

Ten thousand people were killed at Atami, the despatch added, while two thirds of the population of Yoksuka, were either killed or injured.

Many Americans Safe.

Henry B. Hitchcock, the American consul at Nagasaki, advised the state department that he was organizing relief work with Paul Dickover at Kobe and the British consul at Nagasaki. He also had confirmation of the death of Consul Max Kirjassoff at Yokohama and of Vice Consul E. G. Babbitt.

Hitchcock agreed that conditions at Yokohama were "relatively worse" than in Tokio. He said that clear reports concerning the extent of the disaster and the loss of life were now being received from the earthquake area for the first time.

Professor and Mrs. Henry Fairfield Osborn of New York are safe and well in Shanghai, said a despatch from Consul John K. Davis. Osborn is the head of the American museum of natural history in New York.

Messages from Edward Bell, counsellor of the United States legation at Peking, and Consul Dickover, at Kobe, said that Vice Consul Leo D. Sturgeon, (illegible) and Vice Consul Samuel J. Wardell (Tennessee) who were stationed at Yokohama, were not killed, and that both of the Kirjassoff children are safe and well in Kobe.

Counsellor Bell's message said: "Refugees from Yokohama report that the consulate-general there is completely destroyed and that Kirjassoff and wife were killed.

"Vice Consul Samuel J. Wardell is safe, but other members of the staff are not accounted for.

"The naval hospital in Yokohama collapsed and commander Webb was injured.

"Some of the staff were killed.

"Suggest sending war ships to take care of naval patients."

WEDNESDAY, SEPTMBER 5, 1923.

WHAT SHALL BE DOMINANT ?

Writing in his new book "The Reformation of War" Colonel J. F. C. Fuller paints a revolting picture of the future of the human race. The most horrible aspect is his assurance that man can never rise above his instinct to fight for he says, "There are still many among us who fondly delude themselves into believing that disarmament and words can abolish war. 'Take away our weapons and we still have our fists, our teeth and our nails,' shriek human instincts, 'and as for words—' the answer is all but lost in a derisive laugh."

Colonel Fuller is an Englishman and a professional soldier. He has fought in two of England's wars, and believes that by war alone can man survive. Colonel Fuller forgets that the pugnacious instinct is only one of man's many instincts. When, however, the pugnacious instinct governs actions other instincts, for the time being, do not find expression; do not find vent. Just so the pugnacious instinct can and frequently does become subordinate to other instincts. Did you fight at the last opportunity to do so? Would you be proud of having used your fists of late? What has become of the fighting instinct among the Chinese with whom the army is held in ill-repute? True China is backward industrially but as a result of her policy of seclusion rather than of failure to fight.

Furthermore, the psychologist tells us that fighting is two kinds, defensive and aggressive and, "Fighting of the aggressive sort is a luxury rather than a necessity. It has play value rather than survival value." The play instinct can and should be satisfied in some other way than by inflicting suffering on one's fellows.

The theory of the survival of the fittest does not necessarily involve war. The fittest in life survive because they find new and better ways of adjusting themselves to the elements, new and better ways of gaining sustenance. So man is finding that the best way to survive and grow in value to himself and his fellow men is not to enter upon a periodical debauchery of war. Man is seeking the best union of acquired and native characteristics, and war is being weighed in the balance. Whether it will be found wanting or not depends on ourselves.

DOESN'T ALWAYS HOLD GOOD

We have always heard the saying "Better an hour too soon than a minute too late," but we will venture that the foreigners who were on board the crafts that arrived in New York harbor a few seconds before midnight on August 31st cannot be persuaded to see much value in the idea of getting in a little ahead of time.

The ships with foreigners aboard are all anxious to get into port the first moment of the new month so that their passengers can be counted on the new number permitted for that month. The boats, therefore, wait out beyond the imaginary line that they must cross and many of them are each wanting to beat the other in. One of them, the Estonia of the Baltic-American line, crossed over the line at 11:59 4-5, or in other words, fifteen seconds before midnight.

The rule of the department is that the 15 seconds before would be the same as days before, and since the quota was filled for August, these people must go back to their native country. There was some dispute about the chronometers, but of course the Commissioner of Immigration has the last guess.

There are some foolish things in relation to the present immigration law. It is working a great injustice on thousands of worthy men and women. We hope it will be remedied as soon as Congress convenes.

The weakness of the League of Nations, we are afraid, will become apparent in the present crisis. Italy does not propose to pay any attention to the wishes of the League. It will not participate in the proceedings. It is going its own way because it wants war. If there was an organic union of the nations of the world with an International Court and international army, and the nations themselves were limited in their industries and armament, there would be a voice that could speak with authority. The real need is the "United States of the World."

A seismograph in our judgment is not very useful. It tells where the earthquake occurred, but as it does not find out the exact spot it is of little value as we can find the exact spot in a little while afterwards anyhow. It tells us, of course, that there is a tremor—that something has happened. But what good does it do us? We have no respect to the kick of the mule. What we want is information just a few moments

BENITO MUSSOLINI

Benito Mussolini, Italian premier, is the dominating figure in the Greco-Italian misunderstanding It is rumored that he has said that the dispute is not one for the league of nations to settle. That the Greek government must accede to the demands of Italy for reparation and apology for the murder of her boundary commissioners or Italy will force her to do so.

Mussolini was once forcibly ejected out of Italy as a vagabond This was when he was 20 years of age He went to Switzerland and entered the Lausanne university after many trials and tribulations His activities as a revolutionary socialist caused his banishment from Switzerland.

From Austria, too, where he went from Switzerland, his political beliefs exiled him He finally returned to Italy and settling in Milan became the editor of a socialist paper. When the World war broke out he joined the army and fuoght at Monte Nero and Carso, being severely wounded

Later, with the swift action terrific speed and irresistible force which mark all his undertakings, he crushed the Communists in Turin, the great manufacturing center of Italy. They were planning to seize the industrial machinery and run it on Bolshevist lines Mussolini swooped down on the town in an airplane, rallied the war veterans and other conservative elements and ended the Bolshevik menace

It is said that there are 1,000,000 men ready to respond to Mussolini's call at any moment Not only the army but the entire intellectual community of Italy looks to him for orders

The influence of American schools in Bulgaria upon education, culture and progress of the country is enormous," says King Boris of Bulgaria in a recent tribute to America's influence in his country."

"It was in the American schools at Constantinople and Samokov that some of Bulgaria's best statesmen obtained their early training It was an American who was largely instrumental in bringing about the cessation of hostilities in the Balkans not so many years ago. In the early years of their national awakening, it was the sons of America who gave the Bulgarians the Bible in their own tongue. My people have always had an unshakable confidence in the friendship and good will of America, who aided us to enjoy peace, productive labor and moral and cultural progress. I have great admiration for American women and am sure they make excellent wives. There are also very pretty—all those I have seen—and that is so much in itself."

"FARMERS SOLVING OWN PROBLEMS," SAYS STOCK BANK OFFICIAL

President Coolidge's belief that problems confronting the American farmer cannot be cured by legislation at this time are shared by members of the American Association of Joint Stock Banks, gathered for their fifth annual meeting in Chicago.

"The farmers can and are solving their problems through the regular channels of business," said W. W. Powell of Washington, D. C., secretary of the association

Sixty-nine joint stock land banks doing business in 36 states were represented in the convention.

"These 69 banks have loaned more than $233,000,000 to farmers during the last fiscal year," Mr Powell said, "and the total loans by all banks in the federal farm loan system is more than $1,000,000,000. More than 50 per cent of the farms in the United States are free of debt Iowa farmers get more than 10 per cent of all money loaned on farm mortgages by all systems of lending This amounts to about $500,000,00 The two federal farm loan systems — the land banks and co-operative banks — have loaned more than $95,000,000 in Iowa Illinois is second, with between 6 and 7 per cent of the total.

"Under the joint stock land bank system borrowed from Europe after 150 years' trial and established here in 1916, the farmer gets his money on a term of 33 years He pays a maximum interest rate of 6 per cent plus 1 per cent, which applies on the principal The money must be used for agricultural purposes or land improvements."

Loans made by the Chicago Joint Stock Land Bank to Illinois and Iowa farmers amount to $50,000,000, Mr. Powell said The First Trust Joint Stock Land Bank affiliated with the First National Bank, has $12,000,000 in loans outstanding, he added Each bank is chartered to do business in its own state and one adjoining state

POEMS THAT LIVE

DELIA, AN ODE

Fair the Face of orient day,
Fair the tints of op'ning rose;
But fairer still my Delia dawns,
More lovely far her beauty shows.

Sweet the lark's wild warbled lay,
Sweet the tinklink rill to hear;
But, Delia, more delightful still,
Steal thine accents on mine ear.

The flower-enamour'd busy bee,
The rosy banquet loves to sip,
Sweet the tinkling rill to hear;
To the sun-browned Arab's lip

But, Delia, on thy balmy lips,
Let me, no vagrant insect, rove;
O let me steal one liquid kiss,
For Oh! my soul's parched with love.

IN THE DAYS NEWS

The appointment of Neville Chamberlain as Chancellor of the Exchequer will give widespread pleasure to many people in England, especially in Birmingham and the Midlands, where the Chamberlain family has always been popular Mr Chamberlain is the second son of the famous Joseph Chamberlain As a young man he professed to follow the example of his uncle Arthur Chamberlain, in adopting a business rather than a political career, and his marked capacity led eventually to his being connected with the largest industrial concerns in Birmingham. His powerful influence in the affairs of that city led to his election as Lord Mayor During the war Mr Chamberlain served as Director-General of National Service which post gave him opportunity to utilize to the full his already well-proved business capacity Since then he has been a conspicious figure in English public life.

tidal waves, typhoons and fire, embassy officials feared the toll of human lives would reach the highest estimate of 500,000 dead as carried in news dispatches. They point out that the congested methods of living in Japanese cities tended to cause greater casualties than in American cities should they be similarly stricken.

Embassy officials also estimate that Japan will need $500,000,000 worth of supplies from the United States in rehabilitating the destroyed cities, at least $250,000,000 worth of lumber will be needed, it was said. The remainder will consist of clothing, blankets, factory machinery and foodstuffs.

"The work of rehabilitation will be started at once," an embassy official told International News Service. "At least $250,000,000 worth of lumber will be needed from the United States. We will also need huge supplies of foodstuffs, clothing, tents, blankets and machinery at once."

"Most of the reconstruction work of course, will be done with lumber as frame dwellings are a peculiar Japanese custom which not even a catastrophe such as this one, can change. Japanese builders are accustomed to buying American lumber because it is cheaper than native supplies and naturally they will turn to the United States in this disaster.

Osaka Undamaged

"The work of rehabilitation will be greatly aided by the fact that Osaka, the so called Pittsburgh of Japan, was not damaged. Many great factories are located there and will be ready to turn out supplies for reconstruction work.

"A complete estimate of the property loss cannot be made at this time because so many details of the disaster are lacking For instance, the prefecture of Tokio has a maximum property value of $18,500,000,000 The city could be entirely wiped out and yet billions of this value saved, for it includes the ground values, the good will of industries and money.

"On the other hand many of the shrines and temples and art collections probably were destroyed These cannot be replaced even at any cost One single collection in Tokio, consisting of only a few pieces, was valued at $4,000 000. Such losses, if they occurred, may add billions to any estimate we can make now.

"Japan can furnish its own labor and all the work of organization can be accomplished by its own citizens but it will need supplies from all the world and particularly from the United States. This has been such a tragedy that it will only weld closer the ties of friendship between our two nations."

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR AMONG VICTIMS

TOKIO, Sept. 5—(Via Peking)—The terrific earthquake and subsequent fire took a toll of 150,000 lives here, it was estimated today by the Metropolitan police after a preliminary survey. The homeless were listed at 25,000.

The same source estimated casualties in Yokohama at 100,000. The only newspaper not totally destroyed in the capital city was the Nichi Nichi. The machinery was damaged to such an extent, however, as to make publication impossible.

Eight hundred bedridden patients at the University Hospital were cremated without a chance to save themselves.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5—No Americans are believed to have lost their lives in Tokio, although it is reported that some were killed in Yokohama, Cyrus E. Woods, the American ambassador to Japan cabled acting Secretary of state Phillips today.

Wood estimated the totatl dead in the city of Tokio, at 10,000, a figure far below previous unofficial estimates of the past two days.

The situation in Yokohama, the city hardest hit by the earthquake, was described as "exceedingly serious" but the ambassador said it was still impossible to tell how many Americans had been killed or injured.

maintained that the league was not justified in interfering in the Italian-Greek controversy. He assured the league members there is no danger of war. Rome, he said, does not recognize the right of the league even to discuss the Italian-Greek proposals which are now in the hands of the allied ambassadors in Paris.

It is reliably reported that the South American bloc which forced the election of M. Della Torrante, of Cuba, as president, held a secret meeting to plan pressure to force league intervals upon Italy.

The South Americans claim that the league will have been proved useless unless it moves to protect small nations Italian sources point out that Cuba's activity in forcing league intervention arises from the fact that Cuba herself may seek such action Cuba is resentful over American pressure regarding the lottery law and railroad legislation.

The council meeting adjourned on motion of Lord Robert Cecil of England.

LONDON, Sept 5.—Sensational rumors came out of the Balkans and Italy this afternoon. It is admitted in diplomatic circles that the situation is still sufficiently acute to cause fears of war. Servia is reported to be mobolizing.

BY WIRELESS FROM THE STEAMSHIP PIERRE LOTI IN THE MEDITERRANEAN ON SHIPBOARD, Sept. 5 —When I left Athens last night the war cloud seemed to have blown over in Greece, but it overhangs Belgrade pending the league of nations decision.

The Greek foreign minister assured me that Greece would not declare war under any circumstances unless the Greek mainland was invaded.

Greece is quiet. No warlike agitation is permitted. No military measures have been taken, except the withdrawal of the fleet behind the screen of mines near the Salamina forts.

But the Greek foreign office reports great excitement in Jugo Slavia, where the situation is evidently serious.

It develops that the Italian officials who were delimiting the Greek-Albanian frontier were stabbed in their beds and not killed by rifle fire.

Many possible uses suggest themselves for a special paper recently produced and patented by a Japanese inventor. The paper is said to be remarkably strong, and can be crumpled up and washed with soap and water. So durable is this paper that it can be used as a covering for umbrellas, and when soiled, can be easily cleaned at home. As a wrapping paper, it could be used over and over, being washed when soiled. It is said that the product can be made at a reasonable price. It has a texture somewhat like cloth, and is not to be confused with oiled paper.

"First-Hand" Information About Second-Hand Things

Some folks shy away from real bargains because they don't like the word "second-hand." Fiddlesticks!

This is a second-hand country, isn't it? The Indians owned it first.

The Leviathan is a second-hand boat. The Germans owned it once.

Shakespeare used second-hand plots. Many a young man is proud to wear his grandfather's watch—yep, a "second-hand" watch.

Violinists prefer to play second-hand violins—the older the better. Many a king wears a "second-hand" crown.

Used Books, cars, used pianos, used refrigerators, used stoves, used furniture are often highly desirable bargains.

Chronicle-Telegram want ads present choice listings of both new and "second-hand" things. In any case, if the articles suit your needs and your purse, grab 'em.

Good lighting affects coal mining as it does other work. In recent research it was found that a change to a lamp of greater intensity increased production per man nearly 15 per cent, and the coal mined became much cleaner. A return to the smaller lamp caused the amount of output to return to the lower figure, while the dirt included in the product showed an increase.

FATE OF NATIONS' LEAGUE RESTS ON GREEK SOLUTION

View of league of nations building, home of the league, at Geneva, Switzerland, and M. Politis, head of the Greek delegation at Geneva, above, and Lord Robert Cecil, secretary of the league of nations.

That the league of nations faces its greatest crisis and a fight to retain what prestige it has established in the handling of the Italian-Greek situation is the opinion of international students. Greece has appealed to the league for aid. Italy has announced that it cannot place the settlement of the crisis in the hands of the league because Italy's national honor is involved. It has been rumored that the league will refuse to act because the Greek revolutionary government has not been recognized by the league or the countries belonging to it.

MINSTREL SHOW AT RIALTO MONDAY

Some press agents aver that old-time minstrelsy, presented in the manner of a decade or more ago, has a charm that will never die. Without debating this question, it can be safely said that the performance by Harvey's Minstrels, the attraction announced for the Rialto Theatre on Monday night, Sept. 10, is not lacking in charm and tunefulness or in that mysterious commodity known as "pep." Since "Shuffle Along" blazed its bright way across the theatrical firmament to well-merited success, numerous other entertainments presented by negro troupes have made a bid for favor. Many shows of this kind are being presented throughout the country, but the Harvey Minstrel organization has awakened interest in entertainment by negroes that will do much toward holding interest in favor of the colored shows.

Advance notices state frankly that no old shop worn songs or old jokes are to be offered, but an entirely new line of chatter, and songs will be presented in the inimitable manner that only darkies can provide.

The Harvey Minstrels is crowded full of bright spots in full measure, and the Southern touch is not lacking in the singing of Margaret Jackson, the modern "Black Patti," the clog dancing of Hazel Cannon, and the clever act presented by Johnny Woods. The performance is in three parts, opening with the minstrel circle, followed by a series of high class vaudeville acts, and closing with a musical review.

The usual band parade will take place at noon, and a concert in front of the theatre at every performance. Seat sale Saturday.

THEATRES

GRAND: "Bluebird's Eighth Wife," is one of the best pictures on the screen at the present time. Gloria Swanson has the leading part, and she makes the most of it in her own enticing and lovable way. Constance succeeds where others fail, and the story is a very interesting one.

AMERICAN: Last performance of the drug film, "Human Wreckage." A story of the doings of the dope ring, and of the havoc it makes in society. It is educational in every feautre. In addition there is a good feature film and a fine comedy.

DREAMLAND: Today, Eddie Polo in "Captain Kidd, 13, 14, 15," also comedy and news. Tomorrow, "The Midnight Guest," Gabrielle, street waif and member of a band of crooks is captured when she attempts to rob a home. She is saved from jail by the owner of the home, and is adopted by her. She reforms, becomes a beautiful woman, and later finds the man of her choice.

COLONIAL: "East is West," is still a drawing card at the Colonial, and justly so for it is a great picture. The scenes are laid in the Orient, and some of them are very funny. The story is full of heart interest, and is entertaining all through. Also a good extra film and a fine comedy.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 5.—Extension of the workmen's compensation law of Ohio to include employees of interstate railways in the state was advocated in a Labor Day address by Governor A. V. Donahey at the dedication of the new National bank building erected by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks. Labor leaders from all parts of the nation were present.

MISS CORA MYRTLE BLAUVELT WEDS JAMES HOWARD ARNOLD

The first Tuesday of September, traditional month of brides recorded the marriage of Miss Cora Myrtle Blauvelt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Blauvelt, and James Howard Arnold of Lorain. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, 116 Charles court. The ceremony was performed at four o'clock, Rev. L. O. Newcomer, of Lorain, officiating, using the double ring service.

Miss Helen Blauvelt, a sister of the bride, sang, "Oh Promise Me," by Reginald DeKoven, accompanied on the piano by Hubert Struthers, after which he played Mendelssohn's wedding march, as the bridal party entered and took their places before a bank of ferns.

The bride was charmingly gowned in grey satin crepe and wore a corsage of bride's roses. She was attended by her sister as bridesmaid, Miss Ethel Blauvelt, attired in lavender crepe and wearing a corsage of orchid and shell-pink roses.

Wilson Harvey Arnold, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony, a short musicale followed composed of several vocal and piano selections given by Miss Alice Goetz and Hubert Struthers, and an inviting two course wedding supper was served, the home being beautifully decorated with fall flowers and ferns.

Many wedding gifts, of silver, china, et cetera, were presented Mr. and Mrs. Arnold.

The Emergency That Everyone Rose to Meet.

KATHERINE came running back with some tiny pellets and a glass of water. In her other hand she gingerly bore a metal tray holding a tiny electric grill still hot.

Mother Graham's eyes followed mine to it, and realization came to us both of the means by which Katherine had been able to produce boiling water at the very instant of Junior's imperative need of it.

"You must have kept that going all night!" Mother Graham exclaimed.

"Only since I went to bed," Katherine answered, "and it was turned to lowest heat."

"D'ye think I meant to consider the cost?" Mother Graham snapped, and I knew she was sincere, although her voice had sounded exactly as if she had meant that very thing.

"Of course not." Katherine returned soothingly. "Will you please attach it in here somewhere? I must have hot water constantly from now on."

Mother Graham took the grill from her and Katherine and I together succeeded in getting a pellet down Junior just as Katie, wildeyed and sketchily attired appeared in the doorway.

"Vot matter?" she asked, and then seeing Junior on my lap dived for him. "Oh-h, my ba-bee," she called. "You seeck! Speak to Katie!"

Mother Graham turned on her indignantly, but I put up a protesting hand, and for a wonder she subsided. Junior had raised a weak little hand and patted the girl's cheek as she bent over him.

Mother Graham Makes a Fire.

"Nice Katie," he croaked hoarsely, and she caught the hand and kissed it in impulsive fashion, choking a sob back as she fondled the little fingers.

"We must have a fire at once, in here, Katie," Katherine said quietly.

"Then I will build it." Mother Graham interrupted imperiously. "Everything is all ready except another log. Katie, waken Jim right away and have him bring some more wood up here and then start a fire in the kitchen stove. There must be water that's nearly hot down there, if you've kept it going."

"Stove, she going all right," Katie answered, "and dot Jeem he getting oop ven I coom. I tell heem now."

She flew out of the door, and Mother Graham knelt down by the fireplace, crumpling paper into rough wads, and placing them at carefully spaced intervals along the brick floor. Then she arranged small sticks in geometric pattern with plenty of air space between, topped them by a number of larger faggots and on the top laid two small logs. Then with the air of an ancient priestess performing a rite, she applied the match to the paper and looked around in satisfaction as the flame began to crackle.

"There" she said, "that's something like a fire. You wouldn't have had it for an hour if you had let that girl monkey with it."

Prudently Katherine and I held our tongues, although both of us knew that Katie would have had equally as good a fire in as short a time and with much less fussing. I paid tribute to my mother-in-law's efficiency, nevertheless.

The fire, a roaring, thoroughly effective blaze, was built, and Katie had been released for necessary service elsewhere. And Mother Graham had no sooner raised herself from her knees and dusted her hands off, than she began making plans like a strategic general.

"Don't Be Frightened."

"Don't you want the crib in here?" she asked as she sat down in a low chair and drew on her thick woolen stockings and comfortable leather slippers—with the martyr-like insistence of the older generation in being uncomfortable in any emergency, she had remained in her night dress and with bare feet while the excitement was on.

"Yes," Katherine answered, "but for that we can wait until Jim arrives."

"Don't you want to fix up a croup tent?"

"Surely, but this other process will do very nicely until we get the other done, and a few minutes won't matter, one way or the other. There, there, Junior, don't be frightened! Aunt Katie'll take the old choke away."

Her quick eyes had detected the beginning of another spasm, and with deft hands she again put the bowl of steaming fluid beneath the blanket which Mother Graham held, and soothed the child's tortured throat.

For the next hour and a half the room was a battle ground. Jim, quiet, effective, brought wood for the fire, and set up Junior's crib, which I noted could not have been used since I left home. The child evidently had been sleeping in his grandmother's bed during my entire absence, a proceeding directly contrary to my ideas of hygiene, but which there was no slightest use trying to combat.

But although I could not give assent to some of my mother-in-law's ideas, I admired her crisp efficiency as she aided Katherine in preparing the croup tent—an ingenious arrangement of sheets over the crib—and stood by, a tower of strength, while we fought the horrible choking spasms which were wearing Junior's strength down.

BEAUTY SPOTS OF CANADIAN ROCKIES LURE NOTED ARTISTS

Noted artists, famous movie picture directors and expert scenic photographers, like thousands of tourists, have succumbed to the lure of the innumerable beauties of Banff and the Canadian Pacific Rockies. Artists in increasing numbers each year spend the summer on the trail in the mountains transferring these beauties to canvas. For seventeen years Carl Rungius, celebrated painter of wild animals in their native haunts, has been a regular visitor to Banff. Now he lives there most of the year and has built his own bungalow and studio. In 1921 Rungius won the $1,000 Altman prize, but, being foreign born, was disqualified, whereupon the National Academy of Design bought the painting for $1,000 and it now hangs in the Corcoran Art Gallery, Washington.

Belmore Browne, artist, author, explorer and conqueror of Mt. McKinley, 20,300 feet, lives in his own bungalow-studio in Banff the year round except when exhibiting in New York. He and Rungius both study the mountain goats, sheep, deer and bear in their wilderness homes and paint them and their majestic scenic backgrounds. Richard M. Kimbel, landscape painter, has spent two summers in Banff and is painting at Lake O'Hara, near Lake Louise, and last year W. Langdon Kihn lived a month on the Stoney Indian reservation making pastel portraits of the big chiefs, little pappooses, squaws and guides. Leonard M. Davis, who paints wonderful landscapes in Alaska and the Canadian Pacific Rockies with a palette knife, has joined the Banff art colony and expects to make his winter home in near-by Calgary.

The lure of Canada's Switzerland drew John Singer Sergeant, R. A., to beautiful Lake O'Hara, in the heart of the Great Divide, and with his easel planted in the white and pink heather of an Alpine meadow 6,600 feet above sea level the world renowned painter devoted ten days to painting this exquisite jade-green lake and the towering mountains in which it is cupped. Charles W. Simpson, R. C. A., of Montreal; Oliver Dennett Grover, of Chicago; Philip R. Goodwin, Edward Potthast and Albert Groll, of New York, and many other painters of note have found inspiration in this scenic wonderland. As for those humbler artists, the tourists with cameras, they are to be seen snapshotting everywhere in the bungalow camps, by the lakeside and along the trails making beautiful pictures which inspire their envious friends to visit Banff and do likewise.

...STOCKING ...TTERS WIN CHAMPIONSHIP

...is League Ends First ...eason Here With Suc...ful Start

The City Tennis League came to a close last week when in the last match of the schedule the Colson Co. defeated the Y. M. C. A. 3 matches to 0. The Fay Stocking team finished the schedule in first place, with an excellent record of 8 victories and 2 defeats, the Country club and Harshaw-Fuller teams being the only ones to score a victory over them. Harpster, Gamble and Birch form the nucleus of the winning aggregation. All three players won the majority of their singles matches, and Harpster and Gamble formed a formidable doubles team with several hard-earned victories to their credit. The Fay Stocking team took an early lead in the league schedule and maintained it throughout the summer, playing excellent tennis against all their opponents. Members of the winning team are to be presented with medals in recognition of the league victory.

The Tennis League was a distinct innovation in local circles, but has proved its worth by the popularity which tennis has enjoyed this summer. Seven teams participated throughout the summer and many excellent players were uncovered. Approximately 48 players took part in the 32 matches which were played. Next season will see the league launched in somewhat firmer manner and with the experience gained this summer, should prove a banner year for tennis followers.

Final standing of the teams in the league is as follows:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Fay Stocking Co. ...	8	2	.800
Country Club	7	3	.700
Harshaw-Fuller-Goodwin	7	3	.700
Colson Co.	7	4	.637
Independents	3	6	.333
Y. M. C. A.	3	8	.272
Grace Lutherans	0	10	.000

Tagging The Bases

Boy, bring a niche for Mr. Jones of the New York Yankees. He shut out the Athletics without a hit, the Yanks winning, 2 to 0. It was the first hitless game in the major leagues this year. Only three men reached first base on a pass, on an error by Scott and a force play.

In a duel of left hands Rixey bested Cooper and the Reds beat the Pirates, 2 to 1.

Danforth wilted in the late innings, the Indians beating the Browns, 6 to 2.

The Cubs gained a rolling fall over the Cardinals, 3 to 2.

Inspired by Kelly's homer with two on in the eighth, the Giants defeated the Braves, 3 to 0.

Outside of the fact that he drove in two runs with successive hits and stole home, Goslin had little to do with the Senators' 3 to 1 defeat of the Red Sox.

The Tigers again made merry at the expense of the White Sox pitchers and won, 5 to 2.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

Long Island City—Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, won decision over Pal Moran, New Orleans, 10 rounds; Abe Goldstein, New York, got decision over Frankie Conway, New York, ten rounds.

WAYNE WHEELER MAKES GOOD IN NAVY

LaGrange Athlete Plays on Navy Baseball and Football Teams and Also Holds Fighting Titles

A letter from Paris Island, South Carolina, has an exceptionally good word for Wayne Wheeler, LaGrange athlete, who was captain of the LaGrange high football team last year, and was also prominent in baseball. He is well known in this city, and throughout the county, and is now a member of the U. S. Marine Corps.

This letter states that Wheeler who was also an amateur boxer in Cleveland, with some success, is now a member of the headquarters detachment at Paris Island. He started boxing and rapidly took the lead of all the fighters there, now holding the middle and light-heavyweight titles on the Island. He has successfully defended his crown against all comers, and two weeks ago stopped Jack Dillon, of New Jersey, who claims a record of winning ninety out of one hundred bouts. Wheeler's fast footwork and lightning jabs an dhooks made Dillon look like an amateur.

Wheeler is also a regular on the ball team, and one of the best back field men on the football team.

A GOOD TIME TO INVEST.

In this time of financial uncertainty, you can not do better than to put your money in a good, secure industry, founded on a public necessity and one which has shown its ability to withstand the shocks of depression.

Our properties have for over ten years returned a good profit to the Preferred Stock holders, and every year the conservative and efficient management is building a more and more valuable structure on the already firm foundation.

It will pay you to ask our security department to give you the details on our 7% preferred stock.
